ACR 2016 Annual Conference #ACR2016
Can’t Attend Live? Attend Virtually

For those who cannot attend the Association for Conflict Resolution’s (ACR) 2016 Annual Conference live, a virtual track has been created. On Thursday, September 29th individuals, who are not at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, will be able to engage in a full day of conference activities. This is the first time ACR has offered this type of participation. The lineup looks like this:

- 8:15 AM  Morning Plenary featuring Judge Michael Aloi, Federal Magistrate Judge and former President of ACR.
- 10:15 AM  The first 90-minute workshop is Applying Information and Communication Technologies to Multiparty Conflict Resolution Process by Colin Rule and Jason Gershoniz
- 1:45 PM  After the lunch break, Pattie Porter will host a special edition of The Texas Conflict Coach radio blog program. The topic for the program is A Virtual Exchange: Renewing Civic Engagement at a Time of Unprecedented Interconnectedness
- 3:30 PM  The last workshop of the day is a presentation by the National Association of Drug Court Professionals, Here’s Looking at You—Targeting the Right Participants
- 5:00 PM  We end the day with presentations by four 2016 New Voices. The New Voices: Emerging Professionals program selects, through a juried process, seven graduates or recent graduates to present a “Ted Talk like” presentation on research they had done and/or participated in.

Virtual participants will be fully engaged in each session, just as if they were in the room. This is the first time ACR has offered the ability to join the conference in this way, so we are excited to see how it all comes to together. The cost is $95 for ACR members and $125 for non-members.

Join ACR at the 2016 Annual Conference September 28 – October 1, virtually or in person at the Lord Baltimore Hotel. In the meantime, click here to listen to an interview with Pattie Porter, one of the presenters in the Virtual Track.
