

Position Announcement to USGS Coalition Members

The Alliance of Crop, Soil, and Environmental Science Societies (ACSESS), the nation's premiere agricultural and natural resources research organization, is seeking a Senior Science Policy Manager within the Washington, D.C. Science Policy Office. This is an excellent opportunity to join a great team of professionals dedicated to the sciences, public outreach and education.

Agronomy, crop and soil science play a leading role in addressing agricultural production and environmental challenges facing the U.S. and the world. ACSESS has a strong record of successful advocacy and is uniquely positioned to be the leading voice for innovative research.

The Senior Science Policy Manager will support and lead efforts to increase federal funding opportunities for agronomy, crop and soil science research. Working with leadership and key committees, the Senior Science Policy Manager will lead efforts to develop policy positions and analyze and respond to federal legislation, regulation and rulemaking.

The ideal candidate will have at least three years of experience working for or with Congress or the Executive Branch. A graduate degree in Agronomy, Crop, Environmental, Soil Science or a closely related field is preferred. Successful candidates will be familiar with science programs supported by federal science agencies. Experience working with coalitions; developing and/or executing strategic advocacy programs; and demonstrated engagement in public outreach and education programs is also preferred. Superior written and verbal communications skills and the ability to communicate effectively with diverse audiences is a must.

ACSESS is an equal opportunity employer and offers competitive salaries and excellent benefits. Interested candidates should submit a resume, cover letter, and three references electronically to Karl Anderson \(sciencepolicy@sciencesocieties.org\). Please include "Sr. Science Policy Manager" in the Subject line. Applications are due August 9.

ACSESS is a nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization providing management and administrative support services to its founding members: the American Society of Agronomy (ASA), Crop Science Society of America (CSSA), and Soil Science Society of America (SSSA).
