4th Annual MISSISSIPPI ADDICTIONS CONFERENCE

“Trends, Treatment and Transformations: Addiction in 2012”

*P*rofessionals Health Network, Inc. and the University of Mississippi School of Medicine in association with The Mississippi Society of Addiction Medicine and the Mississippi Department of Mental Health are excited to offer you our 4th Annual Mississippi Addictions Conference – Trends, Treatment and Transformations: Addiction in 2012.

Our previous conferences have been tremendously successful. This conference is designed to build on those conferences and address many of the issues and questions brought up by those of you “in the trenches.” We are pleased again this year to have an internationally recognized faculty from around the country and Canada. We are all excited to bring this quality conference to Mississippi.

Addictive illness is a chronic medical illness that presents to our offices every day.

Conservatively, addictive illness impacts ten percent of our population equating to over 250,000 Mississippians.
When we consider that each patient represents a family of four, we realize that over a million Mississippians are directly impacted. This illness results in tremendous morbidity and mortality.

Fortunately, addictive illness is highly treatable with appropriate diagnosis, treatment and monitoring. This is best accomplished through the combined efforts of the health care community. This conference will provide evidence-based lectures that will enable the participant to more readily identify addictive illness, co-dependency and the impact on young adults. The participant will learn how to approach patients and gain knowledge regarding motivating the patient toward readiness to receive help. Participants will also learn of effective treatments available and be more knowledgeable regarding addiction treatment and aftercare.

OBJECTIVES

This conference is designed for physicians – especially primary care, family medicine and psychiatry – psychologists, pharmacists, dentists, physician assistants, nurse practitioners, nurses, social workers, therapist/counselors, law enforcement and clergy.

At the completion of this conference, the attendee will be able to:

- Define addiction, what it is and how it presents
- Understand addictive illness as a chronic medical illness
- Recognize the similarities of chemical dependency and known diseases
- Understand healthcare reform in the addiction field
- Identify trends in opioid use and treatment; Compare past and current approaches of treatment
- Understand evidence-based research supporting abstinence
- Learn the current status of neuropharmacology and genetics underlying compulsivities and addiction
- Identify stress and burnout
- Understand the differences between men and women in recovery
- Understand loss and how it may produce symptoms with diagnostic uncertainties
