

"Apps for Immunization" helps keep current with vaccine recommendations & immunization schedules

by IAC Express

Looking for immunization-related applications (apps) for your mobile device? Look no further. IAC's Apps for Immunization web section is a listing of apps related to immunization from trusted sources that are available from iTunes and Google. The apps help make it easy for healthcare professionals to check the latest vaccine recommendations and immunization schedules on their mobile devices, and to help parents keep their children up to date on their vaccinations.

Several new and updated apps have been added to the listing in the past year, including apps from American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, CDC, and Society of Teachers of Family Medicine.

Apps for Immunization is the latest addition to IAC's online Directory of Immunization Resources.
