

Medical students and residents can apply for AAFP scholarship to attend 2016 National Conference

AAFP

Students and residents can apply for a \$600 scholarship from AAFP to attend National Conference, provided by the AAFP Foundation Family Medicine Leads program. Applications are due by May 1.

National Conference is the place for student and resident members to experience family medicine in motion. Register today.

National Conference allows attendees to experience:

- Knowledge in motion: Educational sessions, over 35 topics to choose from, are offered in several formats at National Conference for attendees to learn about the breadth and depth of family medicine.
- Networking in motion: Attendees can explore more than 50 physician employers and fellowship opportunities, and 300-plus residency programs in the Expo Hall to get a head start on their career path. Meet with other residents and students and visit with publishers, government agencies, medical missions, and more.
- Leadership in motion: Students and residents can hone their leadership skills and take an active role in the future of family medicine by participating in the Student and Resident Congresses.
- Fun in motion: Attendees can mix and mingle with fellow residents and students at the Expo Hall Grand Opening and National Conference Celebration.