

Voices for Vaccines provides resources for promoting vaccination

By IAC Express

Voices for Vaccines has developed resources for parents, physicians and others looking to make a difference in countering anti-vaccine forces, especially during this time of intense interest in the subject due to the multi-state measles outbreak. Please share this information with your patients and/or your office to make available on your website.

- Parents who want to make sure their children's day cares and schools are protected from vaccine-preventable diseases should bring the Community Immunity Toolkit to their school nurses and principals
- People who want information about what the law can do about immunization rates should download the Vaccines and the Law manual
- The Parent Advocate Toolkit enables anyone—from the everyday parent to the practicing physician—to gather a group of people of any size to discuss how vaccines are important and why we must all speak up for them
- Writing an Op-Ed for Publication provides guidance for those who wish to write op-eds for local newspapers or magazines about the importance of immunization or any other issue under the umbrella of vaccine hesitancy

Voices for Vaccines is a national organization of parents and others who are dedicated to raising the level of the voices of parents who support immunization. VFV invites everyone who appreciates vaccines (parents and otherwise) to join. Please spread the word to your friends and colleagues to join VFV!
