

Maine Posted Road Exemption

Be careful what you wish for, we all have been asking for a REAL winter and we got one. And when this winter ends, whether that is March or April, the next season Maine Energy Dealers will have to cope with is mud season, or drivers refer to it as posted road season.

Maine does have an exemption to roads posted with “HEAVY LOADS LIMITED” signs under the provisions granted in Title 29-A M.R.S.A., Section 2395 rules and regulations restricting heavy loads on closed ways. Any vehicle transporting home heating fuel (oil, LP, coal, stove size wood) to a private customer may apply for an exemption certificate.

The certificate shall accompany the vehicle at all times as shall weigh slips, delivery slips, or bills of lading for the load being carried. The allowable weight indicated on the exemption certificate will be determined by the Department of Transportation. Applicants for exemption certificates must present a certified weigh slip for the empty weight of the unloaded vehicle as a prerequisite to obtaining an exemption certificate.

For a copy of the application please contact Will Beck either at 207-729-5298 or Will@maineenergymarketers.com
