

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

FREE ENTRY FOR FIRST 100 GOLFERS TO SIGN UP FOR SYNERGY GOLF LEAGUE IN EACH CITY—EARN SPOT ON PRO TEAM

Minneapolis, MN—April 16, 2014—Synergy Golf League (SGL) announced today that they are offering free memberships to the first 100 golfers who sign up for league play in their city. “To prove our commitment to our players and members we are waiving all membership fees for the first 100 spots in each market who sign-up to play in our league,” said Steve Clark, VP of SGL, “We are looking for the best golfers in every market across the country, regardless of financial status, to have an opportunity to earn a living playing the sport they love, represent their city in a fun, competitive team match-play format, and show they have what it takes to be the best.”

Synergy Golf League was created to bridge the gap between amateur and professional golfers by providing an opportunity for golfers with a high level of skill the chance to prove their skill in a team/league-play format—while having a chance to earn a professional contract, represent their city, and make a living playing golf.

“I am excited to travel with a team and to take my game to the next level, says Elena Robles, professional golfer and 2-time Big Break contestant, “This is an amazing opportunity to showcase my talent and skills on the course.”

The PGA Tour has traditionally catered to people who can afford to go through the process of Q-School or the mini-tour circuit—an incredibly expensive endeavor which leaves some of the most talented golfers in the world without an outlet to showcase their ability. Synergy Golf League will welcome these athletes: the very talented golfer who may otherwise go unnoticed and not be given the chance they deserve to prove they have game. If golfers qualify for a spot on a SGL Pro Team, they will have all their entry fees and travel expenses covered.

“Competitive golf has been waiting for something like this to come along,” said Kimberly Wong, Tournament Sales Manager and Marketing Manager of Orange Lake Resort and former LPGA Pro. “It’s refreshing to see the players so excited about a new opportunity like Synergy Golf League.”

-more-

About Synergy Golf League

Synergy Golf League (SGL) is the only national professional golf league (Est. 2014) that was created to feature the best golfers in the world, regardless of their financial status, in the most popular format—match-play team-based golf. SGL can be found in 49 markets across the United States with 5,000 members nationwide, over 490 partner golf courses, and 21 professional golf teams. If you got game, we got your league!

Players interested in further information about Synergy Golf League should follow these links: <http://synergysgolfleague.com> and <http://twitter.com/progolfleague>

Media Contact:

Steve Clark

Steve@SynergyGolfGroup.com

###