Registration Underway for 2017 RLF
$600 discounts for SIM members, $500 early bird discounts expire soon, new forum announced!

Registration is underway for all 2017 RLF (Regional Leadership Forum) programs, with a $600 discount for SIM member companies and $500 “early bird” discounts available. However, the early bird discounts will not be available much longer for some forums.

“We’re are well into our registration for 2017 to offer rising leaders from across the U.S. the opportunity to significantly expand their leadership capabilities,” said Phil Zwieg, RLF Director. “Not only do SIM members receive a $600 discount per participant, but all registrants can also receive an additional $500 discount per participant if registration is paid by the early bird deadlines available for every program. But, those deadlines are rapidly approaching so they must act now.”

“We’re also very pleased to announce that registration is open for a new South Central Forum to be held in Ft. Worth (one session in Austin),” added Zweig.

SIM’s RLF program consists of a comprehensive series of six 2-day sessions unfolding over nine months. Participants undertake the reading and discussion of 25-plus books “to absorb and understand a broad spectrum of important leadership principles,” said Zwieg. “And they benefit tremendously from continuous dialogue with colleagues and executive business leaders about challenges faced and lessons learned.”

More than 4,000 graduates have successfully completed the RLF program over the past two decades. Register here for a 2017 RLF program.
