Former AGTA President Shire passes
 AGTA Share [social icons]
 The members of the American Gem Trade Association join the entire jewelry industry in mourning the passing of Maurice Shire, this past Saturday. Maurice was a founding father of the AGTA and served for many years on our Board of Directors and as our President from 1987 to 1988. Maurice was a tireless advocate of ethics and professionalism; he was a man who displayed unbridled passion for his gemstones, his friends, and his family. MORE

Protecting your company's good name
 BusinessWeek Share [social icons]
 While most people believe it was an iceberg that caused the Titanic to sink, recent research tells us that in fact, it was a series of bad decisions by the shipbuilder. These decisions led to substandard parts falling when the Titanic hit the iceberg, resulting in the ship's demise. Today, companies have robust risk prevention systems to avoid these kinds of corporate "shipwrecks," but unfortunately, most managers and employees don't follow them. MORE
