

June 13, 2013

Department: The Learning Curve Summer Surfin'

As members of NAGC, we encourage you to take advantage of our educational resources all-year-round. But summer is associated with swim suits and surfing, so be sure to surf the Web and visit NAGC's Live Learning Center. If you'd rather be on the beach, simply download an MP3 file of a webinar to your iPod (or other device) and listen on your own time, indoors or out.

Here are some 2013 highlights you shouldn't miss!

Our highly rated 2013 Winter and Spring WOW Series are now available for purchase in the Live Learning Center:

- Visit 2013 Winter WOW Series: Common Core Conversations to view the full series.
  - Consider supplementing your online learning with our new books on Common Core State Standards for advanced and gifted learners in English Language Arts and Math.
- Visit the 2013 Spring WOW Series: Planting and Growing Differentiation in the Classroom to view the full series. (Scroll to right to view all available packages)
  - Consider supplementing your online learning with books from WOW presenters on differentiated instruction in the classroom: Advancing Differentiation and Teacher's Survival Guide: Differentiating Instruction in the Elementary Classroom

If you missed our recent webinars on the topic of Malleable Minds, you can access the recorded files directly from the NAGC home page or Live Learning Center homepage at no charge. Consider supplementing your online learning with the book: Malleable Minds: Translating Insights From Psychology and Neuroscience to Gifted Education .

Stay tuned for information about our upcoming webinars. We hope to see you online!